

Doctor Daneyra Nicoletti Small Newball

Pulmonay

Education and Specialty

Doctor Small attended the Autonomous Metropolitan University of Xochimilco, Mexico, where she received her medical diploma in 1991. In 1997, completed an Internal Medicine residency at the Spanish Hospital in Mexico, DF. In 2000, finished the sub specialization in Pneumology at the National Institute of Respiratory Diseases, in Mexico DF. In 2004, attended the Central American and the Caribbean Congress of Pneumology and Thoracic Surgery. In 2005, attended the Regional Course of the American College of Chest Physicians.

Major Positions Held

In 2000, Doctor Small served as the coordinator of HIV/AIDS, Pneumonia research projects for the Department of Pneumo – infectology of the National Institute of Respiratory Diseases.

Publications

Doctor Small has been published by the Magazine of the Mexican National Institute of Respiratory Diseases.