

Doctor Edgardo Andrevis Saavedra Chávez

General Surgery

Education and Specialty

Doctor Saavedra began his medical education at the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Panama but finished it at the Medicine School of the Autonomous University of Central America, in San José, Costa Rica, in 1996. In 2003, attended the Cleveland Clinic Foundation in Weston, Fort Lauderdale, Florida for a fellowship in Clinical and Research in Bariatric Surgery. In 2004, completed a residency in General Surgery with honors at the Angeles del Pedregal Hospital in Mexico. In 2004, also, completed a fellowship in Basic and Advanced Laparoscopic Surgery at the Angeles del Pedregal Hospital.

Major Positions Held

Doctor Saavedra served as Chief of Residents in General Surgery at the Angeles del Pedregal Hospital from 2003 through 2004.

Memberships

Doctor Saavedra is a member of the Panamanian Society of Medicine and a partner of the Mexican Association of Endoscopic Surgery.

Publications

Doctor Saavedra has been published by the Magazine of the Medicine Students Association and has contributed for the books Geriatric Surgery Treaty and General Geriatrics Treaty